"Phil came to us before the start of the night and asked if he could use a few tricks to get the party started. Unsure of what this would entail we gave Phil the go ahead and kick things off as he normally would. Would followed was a series of games which were reliant on audience participation which our guests got into from the off. By doing this Phil enabled the party to get going straight away and it therefore led to a fantastic night to finish off what had been a superb day."

someone with OCD! There was nothing he wouldn't do in prep including editing music so it was within a nano second of what we needed! "We booked Phil to provide us with a day that was unique and different and Phil certainly did that. Everyone has commented saying it was the best wedding they have been to. Phil even had my uncle who used to play for Great Britain up doing the love train and he never dances and my 89 year old Nanny had a glow stick necklace on sight I never thought I would see. I am so glad we booked Phil all day as without him I think our wedding would have been another lovely wedding but not one they were still talking about weeks after like they are still doing now.
